ARE YOU THE RIGHT PERSON?

We are currently seeking undergraduate students eager to make an impact on their local communities through tobacco control research and policies. The Nicotine and Cannabis Policy Center (NCPC) is offering invaluable work experience via a hands-on internship. Those accepted will work directly with local public health departments throughout the San Joaquin Valley, so applicants must be motivated and professional.

Every participant will have the opportunity to:

- Network with potential future employers
- Help improve the quality of lives of local residents
- Learn about tobacco-related theory, research, and policy control efforts

APPLICATIONS OPEN NOW UNTIL MAY 13TH, 2022

How to apply: All UC Merced undergraduate students are eligible to apply. Please submit your unofficial transcripts, an up-to-date resume, and a 500-word maximum personal statement discussing:

- How you would use science to promote social justice in society,
- What sparked your interests in health and/or tobacco control, and what have you accomplished toward this area
- What you are looking to accomplish in this program

Please submit these materials by May 13th as a single PDF entitled "Lastname_Firstname_InternApp.pdf" to our website <https://ncpc.ucmerced.edu/intern-program>
